GLASS DESCRIBES THE CURRENCY BILL

Chairman of the Honse Committee Outlines the Measure

WILSON ADDRESS CONGRESS

Bill Will be Introduced in House and Senate After the President Delivers His Speech to Congress Monday.

Washington, June 19.—The administration currency bill was made public tonight by Representative Glass, chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency. It will be introduced in the House and Senate after President Wilson has delivered in person his address to Congress on Monday.

An outline of the measure prepared by Mr. Glass describes it as "a basis for legislative action," states that it will be gone over in detail for alterations, and sets out that its purpose is to accomplish three principal objects:

Provision of a means for re-discounting commercial paper of specified types.

A basis for elastic notes properly safeguarded.

Machinery for doing foreign banking business.

The measure's essentials remain as they have been outlined from time to time since the President began a study of the subject with House and Senate leaders, Secretary McAdoo and other advisers, providing 12 or more Federal reserve banks which will rediscount paper, deal in government securities, exchange and conduct government fiscal operations, national banks and such State banks and trust companies and conform to standards would be stock holders of the reserve banks. The government would hold no stock.

The government would control the Federal reserve banks entirely through a Federal reserve board of seven members in which the banks would have no representation. The board would be composed of the Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary of Agriculture, the Comptroller of the Currency, as members ex-officio; four other members would be chosen by the President and confirmed by the Senate.

The National bank note circulation would remain undisturbed and no proposal is made in the bill for retiring aproximately $700,000,000 2 per cent. bonds upon which that note issue now rests. An amendment or separate bill to refund those bonds into 3 per cent. bonds may be introduced later.

In addition to the $700,000,000 existing National bank notes, not more than $500,000,000 in what are to be known as Federal reserve treasury notes might be issued at the discretion of the Federal reserve board in place of making advances to the Federal reserve banks, which would do no business with the public, deal only with their member banks and receive deposits only from the United States. While the notes would on their face, purport to be the obligations of the United States, they would be required to be secured by a gold reserve of 33 1-3 per cent. provided by the Federal reserve bank, would be a first and paramount lien on all the assets of these banks and would be redeemable in gold on demand at the Treasury Department in the city of Washington or any Federal reserve bank.

Stringent provisions are made against counting any of these notes as a part of bank reserves, and the system is guarded against inflation by lodging power with the Federal reserve board to exact any interest charge upon treasury notes in order to secure their prompt redemption. The notes are not made legal tender, but would be receivable by the government and every bank of the system at par without exchange.

No change would be made in the protection of other existing notes.

The Federal reserve board would require one Federal reserve bank to re-discount the paper of another and would establish a rate on discount not necessarily uniform for all reserve banks, but made with a view to accommodating the commerce of the country and promoting a stable price level.

For re-casting the present bank reserve system, the bill proposes to transfer the reserves from National banks in the present reserve and central reserve cities to Federal reserve banks, carrying the process of transfer over 38 months to avoid shock to market conditions. The bill proposes, according to Mr. Glass' statement, "ultimately the establishment of a reserve system in which country banks will have 15 per cent. of reserve (i. e. 15 per cent. of total demand liabilities) such 15 per cent. to be held 5 per cent. in the bank's vaults, 5 per cent. with the National reserve bank, and 5 per cent. either at home or with the reserve bank, while reserve and central reserve city banks have reserves of 20 per cent. of demand liabilities of which 10 per cent. will be at home, 5 per cent. with the reserve bank of the district, and 5 per cent. either at home or with the reserve bank," the statement says.

"The presumed effect of this plan will be to end the placing of reserves with central reserve city banks for use in stock market operations, to keep reserves in some measure at home, and to require speculators to get the funds they need in their operations either by directly borrowing them from persons who hold them and want to lend the cash for that purpose, or else by borrowing from the banks in the places where the operations are to be carried on.

"In the belief that the present reserve system is antiquated and unsatisfactory, that the massing of funds in New York and other financial centers, of which so much has been said in recent years, and that in order to get the real benefit from the system of re-discount which has been proposed as a remedy for many existing evils it is necessary to base such system upon an actual control of reserves, provision has been made for re-casting the present bank reserve system."

MEDICAL SOCIETY ADJOURNS

Library of Congress

(Special Star Telegram.)

Atlantic Hotel, Morehead City, N. C., June 19.—The annual session of the Medical Society of North Carolina came to a close today, and the members who remained after the meeting betook themselves to the surf and to catching fish.

The last official act of the meeting was the election of officers and the following were named:

President, Dr. A. D. Parrott, of Kinston; vice president, Dr. John R. Irwin; secretary, Dr. John A. Ferrell, Raleigh; chairman of the committee on arrangements, Dr. Albert Anderson.

A resolution was passed upon the death of Dr. R. S. Young, of Concord, which occurred suddenly Wednesday.

The new Board of Councilors met and organized by electing Dr. M. L. Stevens, of Asheville, president, and Dr. K. P. B. Bonner, of Morehead City, as secretary, two of the most wide-awake doctors in the State.

Another matter of business transacted was the election of two members of the board of health, Dr. Cyrus Thompson, of Jacksonville, and Dr. A. A. Kent, of Lenoir, being elected.

It was a great disappointment that Governor Craig could not be present to fill his place on the programme Tuesday night. Dr. Stuart McGuire and Dr. J. Allison Hodges, both of Richmond, Va., two invited guests, read very interesting papers. Dr. McGuire's paper was on the subject of "Hypothyroidism," and he gave a splendid presentation of a condition occupying the border line between medicine and surgery.

Dr. Hodges gave a masterly paper on the conservation of nerve and mental health. Some of the errors of modern educational methods were presented in a new light.

Mr. John E. Ray, of Raleigh, superintendent of the State School for the Blind, another invited guest, gave a very interesting talk on the cause of blindness. Dr. Ira M. Hardy, of the State School for the Feeble-minded at Kinston, showed an interesting series of lantern slides, illustrating different forms of feeble-mindedness.

Slides were also exhibited showing the buildings now being erected for this State school and the beautiful plans for the complete institution as planned by the authorities of the school. His lecture was very instructive as well as interesting. No one could fail to recognise its importance from his able presentation of the subject. The State has appropriated sufficient money to complete only three of these buildings so far, but it is hoped that with this beginning and with the school soon to be started, that this worthy institution will receive the cordial support of the people of the State. Dr. Hardy is working with enthusiasm and the State is to be congratulated upon having a man at the helm who has his whole heart, soul and body in this noble work.

At Wednesday's meeting some very important resolutions were passed relating to the society's internal workings, with a view to better business meetings. It was resolved also to adopt a plan of what is known as "medical defence" by which, it is understood, that the society will employ a competent attorney to represent the organized profession in two particulars: First, to defend in the courts all malicious prosecutions of the society's members; second, to look after the proper enforcement of the medical law of the State and thus relieve individual members and county societies of the odium and expense of attending to these matters.

The scientific papers presented on Wednesday were of very high order. The subjects of unusual interest were presented by very able and practical papers on pellagra and hemorrhagic fever. An exceedingly valuable paper was presented by Dr. Paul Anderson, of Richmond, on some common fallacies concerning insanity. A unique point made by the doctor was that insanity is not indicated by what a man thinks, but rather by what he does. A man may have delusions, but unless these delusions lead to some insane act, he would not be regarded as insane.

Dr. A. J. Crowell, of Charlotte, and Dr. C. O. Abernathy, of Raleigh, read very interesting papers bearing on their specialties. The section on gynecology presented papers of a very high order, practical and up-to-date.

A special feature of the conjoint session of the society with the State Board of Health was the discussion of the new vital statistics law by which every birth, and every death with the cause of the same, will be recorded. This is regarded as the most important health law ever enacted in the State, as only by this means can actual records be obtained.

Wednesday night, the first part of the session was occupied by the reading of very appropriate memorials of deceased members of the society, dying since the last meeting, these being Drs. Duffy and Ivey, Robinson Merriwether and others.

Dr. J. T. Burrus, of High Point, then read the annual essay and in a very eloquent address entertained the large, mixed audience for a short quarter of an hour on "Our Profession." This was followed by the annual oration by Dr. H. D. Stewart, of Monroe, subject: "Mr. Crook." Dr. Stewart covered the subject completely. Dr. H. O. Hyatt, of Kinston, who is one of the best known doctors in the State, read a paper on "Physiologic Psychology in Relation to Feeble-mindedness." This paper attracted unusual attention and was ably discussed by Drs. Hodges and Parrott.

The society has had a very profitable and pleasant meeting and the session was characterized thoroughout by papers and discussion that were considered of an extremely high order.

LATEST CHANGES IN THE TARIFF BILL

Would Give President Authority to Suspend Rates in Law

RECIPROCITY AGREEMENTS

Applys to Cases Where Nations Discriminate Against Products of United States—Many Articles Specified

Washington, June 19.—An amendment to the Underwood tariff bill adopted today by the majority members of the Senate Finance committee would give the President of the United States authority to suspend certain rates in the proposed law, and to proclaim special rates against nations which discriminate against products of the United States.

The amendment is appended to the clause giving the President authority to negotiate reciprocity agreements with other nations, and in some respects resembles the maximum and minimum clause of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law eliminated in the House bill. In substance the amendment would provide that when any nation discriminates against the products of the United States or imposes restrictions upon United States exports, or does not, in the opinion of the President, reciprocate in trade relations, the President may by proclamation suspend certain rates and put in effect other rates.

Only specified articles, it is understood, are to be included under the terms of this amendment, and the retaliatory rates are specified also. Among the articles included in the list upon which the President might suspend rates are fish, wheat, wheat flour, coffee, tea, earthenware, wines and malt liquors, silk dress goods, leather gloves, jewelry, sugars and molasses.

The duties prescribed vary as to the different articles. Fish, it is reported, would be dutiable at one cent a pound, wheat at ten cents a bushel, flour at 45 cents a barrel, a few cents per pound would be placed on coffee and tea. On other items the penalty would be a doubled rate, while on sugars which probably never would be affected, the rate would be only a fraction of a cent per pound. The amendment, of course, is subject to ratification of the Democratic Senatorial caucus, which will begin work on the bill tomorrow.

Besides adding this amendment, the majority members stripped the administrative's provisions of the Underwood bill of many of their features, including the inquisitorial clause, which gave American agents the right to examine foreigners' books in cases of disputed import valuations. They also struck out the provision requiring registration bureaus for commissionaries and agents in American consulates, the provision to give the Secretary of the Treasury the right to determine the existence of non-existence of a foreign market; the anti-dumping clause, which provided excess duties on imports undersold in this country, and the five per cent tariff discount on imports in American vessels.

The committee, however, inserted an amendment providing for the appointment of a commission to be composed of members of the Senate Finance and the House Ways and Means committees, to make a thorough study of the whole tariff administration question and report recommendations for its readjustment. The action of the committee strikes from the bill all the provisions which aroused protests from foreign nations.

The committee declined to approve the amendment suggested by Assistant General Dennison, and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis, which would give the Secretary of the Treasury authority to proclaim values of imports irrespective of foreign markets, a scheme designed primarily to protect the government against loss of revenue under an ad valorem tariff through undervaluations.

This, the committee thought not practical. It adopted, however, a suggestion from the same sources making it unlawful to take up cases in the customs court on a contingent fee basis.

After re-opening consideration of the print-paper schedule today the committee re-considered its former action and struck out its amendment, adding the countervailing provision of the Canadian reciprocity laws. As the bill goes to the caucus the Underwood provision remains undisturbed, print-paper valued at not more than two and a half cents a pound, going on the unrestricted free list.

The committee now has disposed of all the schedules and administration features of the bill, and tomorrow will turn them over to the caucus. It worked until a late hour tonight on the income tax, which will be reported to the caucus as soon as possible.

FIRE AT FAIR GROUNDS

Three Valuable Horses Killed—Great Property Loss

Hugginsville, Mo., June 19.—Three valuable race horses were killed in a fire which destroyed a large barn and thirty sheds at the LaFayette county fair grounds here yesterday. Albert Allison, a pacer, with a mark of 2:10 1-4, owned by W. H. Hackley, of Higginsville, was one of the horses killed. The other two were owned by Captain Ryland Todhunter, of Lexington, Mo., and John D. Epps, of Dover, Mo.

Kansas City, Mo., June 19.—Entering of a decree in final receivership calling for the sale of properties of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railroad, was postponed today until Monday as a result of a request for more time made by attorneys for receivers and bondholders.

APPLICATION OF WEBB LAW

Act Forbidding Inter-State Shipments of Liquor Into Dry States Not a Criminal Statute, Says McReynolds.

Washington, June 19.—The Webb law forbidding inter-State shipments of liquor into "dry" States is not a criminal statute, and violations of it cannot be prosecuted in United States courts. Attorney General McReynolds so declared in instructions sent today to every United States attorney in the country. The law merely prohibits such inter-State traffic, and contains no penalty for infractions.

"Its purpose," said the Attorney General, "is to permit State laws to operate in respect of intoxicating liquors moving in inter-State commerce."

The law simply deprives shippers of any privileges they might claim on the ground of inter-State commerce, and permits the application of State prohibition laws to inter-State commerce in liquors.

The Interpretation.

Washington, June 19.—This is the first time that the Department of Justice has construed the Webb law, which was declared unconstitutional by former President Taft, and former Attorney General Wickersham. President Taft vetoed the bill on the ground that it violated the inter-State commerce clause of the constitution by delegating the regulation of inter-State commerce to the States. The bill was passed over his veto.

Attorney General McReynolds' interpretation is said to mean that the Federal government is not called upon to enforce a law for the violation of which no penalty is imposed, and that the inter-State commerce forbidden by the law is "outlaw" commerce, in regard to which the States are free to apply their statutes. The Attorney General did not attempt to pass upon the constitutionality of the act, and it is believed that this question ultimately may reach the United States Supreme Court.

Texans Favor Repeal.

Galveston, Tex., June 19.—The Texas Pharmaceutical Association today went on record as favoring the repeal of the Federal law prohibiting shipments of liquor into "dry" territory, insofar as to permit druggists to receive and sell alcohol and liquors strictly for medicinal purposes.

"Drys" Win a Victory.

Springfield, Ill., June 19.—"Drys" won in the Illinois Legislature today when the Senate passed two bills restricting saloons in cities. Both bills will now go to Governor Dunne.

One measure prohibits saloons within four miles of the University of Illinois. The other enactment makes it possible for the voters of any residence territory containing not more than 5,000 registered voters to vote "wet" or "dry". A second vote on the same proposition cannot be taken for three years.

JAPANESE ENVOYS

Being Entertained at Washington—Visit White House

Washington, June 19.—A call upon President Wilson, a luncheon conference with Secretary Bryan, and a visit to the headquarters of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, made this a busy day for the four commercial envoys from Japan, here on a mission of peace.

The visit to the White House, though brief, was long enough for Dr. Soyeda, who heads the delegation unofficially, to give the President his view of the California alien land act situation. At the luncheon with Secretary Bryan the visitors are said to have talked freely regarding the California difficulty, and to have given their host a comprehensive resume of their view of conditions in the West, and also the general feeling in Japan over the passage of the land act.

Details of the conference at the Chamber of Commerce of the United States were not made public, but it is understood that the Japanese envoys laid before the officials the plan to enlist the great commercial bodies of America in an effort to bringing about a friendly settlement of the California trouble. Two members of the party, Messrs. Shima and Abeko, left today for New York, and from there will return to their homes on the Pacific coast. Dr. Soyeda and Mr. Kamiya will remain in Washington for several days before going to New York. They have not announced the date of their return to Tokio.

London, June 19.—Wallace F. Johnson, of Philadelphia, today beat the German crack, F. W. Raho, by three sets to two in the fourth round of the open singles in the London lawn tennis championship tournament.

TURNS NEW PAGE IN THE STORY OF SUGAR

The Nation-Wide Campaign of the Free Sugar Advocates.

DETAILS OF FIGHT EXPOSED

Organizer of "Committee of Wholesale Grocers" Examined—Manager of the Associated Press on the Stand.

Washington, June 19.—The Senate committee in pursuit of "the lobby" turned over a new leaf in the story of sugar today, and heard the details of the nation-wide and long continued campaign the advocates of free sugar made to remove the duty on that article.

Frank C. Lowry, sales agent of the Federal Sugar Refining Company, secretary and organizer of the "Committee of Wholesale Grocers" wrote the free sugar chapter for the committee, while Senator Cummins acted as guide through the smoke of the battle of arguments and Senators Nelson and Walsh lent their assistance when the issues seemed to become obscured.

Tonight the committee adjourned, subject to the call of the chair. The three Democratic members will be required to attend the Democratic caucus on the tariff bill which begins tomorrow and Chairman Overman did not know when the hearings would be resumed.

Robert S. Lovett, cnairman of the Union Pacific board of directors, had not been summoned to appear tonight, and his subpoena may not be served until the inquiry is taken up again.

Lowry's examination featured the closing session of the committee. He told of his attempts to accelerate public opinion and to persuade Congressmen and Senators, and spoke frankly of his efforts in the national campaign of last Fall. He said he furnished most of the sugar information which appeared in the Democratic campaign text book; that he prepared data on free sugar for a Democratic campaign document which the present Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Daniels, said would get circulation of a million in pamphlet form, and that he had wired urging every member of the resolutions committee at the Baltimore convention to put a free sugar plank in the Democratic platform. The witness was on the stand for four hours, and when he left he promised to produce any correspondence in his files relating to the organization of the Grocers' committee, or his free sugar campaign. Many of the circulars sent out by him on the letter head of that organization were read in the record by Senator Cummins.

Lowry testified that he had conducted his fight solely for the Federal company, and that other refiners had not figured in it. He thought the expenses had amounted to about $25,000 in four years. Exclusive of his salary and commission as sales agent, amounting to about $68,000 in that period. He got nothing for his tariff work, he said. After many questions by Senator Cummins the witness agreed that although all the sugar refiners did not seem to favor free sugar, they would benefit only in a less degree than the Federal by a reduction in duty. Lowry said, however, that an official of the American Sugar Refining Company, the so-called trust, had told him that free sugar "would put us out of business."

Senator Nelson was especially interested in the Committee of Wholesale Grocers, and wanted to know just how it was formed.

"There was no formal meeting," said Lowry. "I wrote to 25 or 30 wholesale grocers and sugested that we form such a committee."

"They were just dummies, then," suggested Senator Nelson. "I don't think they were very dumb," replied Lowry.

"The whole proceeding was carried on by correspondence?"

"Yes, sir."

"You appointed the secretary and chairman, and organized the committee?"

"Yes, sir."

"The domestic sugar people sent out men," he said, "to try to break it up. They said 'Lowry is a bad man,' you will be subpoenaed before a Congressional committee in Washington. But they stuck."

"What authority had you to select a committee for the wholesale grocers of the United States?" asked Senator Cummins.

"I did not," said the witness. "I selected a committee for the people of the United States."

Senator Cummins read a telegram from Lowry to West Tubbs, secretary of the American Society of Equity, Madison, Wis., saying:

"It is of the utmost importance that you immediately telegraph Oscar W. Underwood, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, or your Congressman in Washington, impressing upon them the importance of taking immediate action toward a reduction in the duty on sugar. Secure the cooperation of as any others as possible in doing this. Immediate action necessary."

A circular letter from Lowry reading in part: "I wired you yesterday asking you to telegraph your representative in Washington to do everything in his power to break the deadlock existing in the Ways and Means committee over sugar schedules. This is the kind of work that helps the cause.

"The beet sugar men have been spending a large part of their time trying to confuse the issue. I was afraid they might be successful in their efforts and therefore desired that the Ways and Means committee be impressed with the fact that the country as a whole was watching their efforts and would call on them for an accounting if they failed to act.

"I am satisfied they received a great number of telegrams yesterday, and I privately learned last night that favorable action has been taken by the committee, and that a bill will be favorably reported in the near future.

"To get the fight in the open will, of course, be a great satisfaction to us all."

"Don't you call that a lobby?" asked Senator Cummins.

"It is not a lobby at all—that is the direct primary idea," said Lowry.

"Did you have any matter sent out in 'plates'?" asked Senator Cummins.

"I only fell for that once,' said the witness. About three years ago, he said, a New York firm offered to get plate matter in papers, and that afterwards they got articles in "plate" in 125 papers. For this Lowry paid $500.

"There was nothing in the articles to show that they were coming from the Federal Sugar Refining Co.?"

"No sir."

Charles B. Warren, president and general counsel of the Michigan Sugar Co., was the last witness tonight. Mr. Warren identified letters read into the record as part of the correspondence of C. C. Hamlin, the beet sugar man. Questioned by Senator Walsh about one letter regarding the purchase of bonds of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, Warren said that he had received such a letter from Hamlin, but that neither he nor the Michigan company had purchased such bonds.

Warren said that at one time he held stock in the Michigan company for the American Sugar Refining Co., but not now. He said that at one time the so-called trust had held more than 42 per cent. of the Michigan stock, but that enough of this stock had been sold to reduce the trust's holdings to about 33 per cent. This was done, he said, to prevent any complications under the Sherman law.

Questioned about his appearances, Senator Cummins suggested that he had been here May 24th last and Warren, saying he was a member of the executive committee of the Republican National Committee, and had been here at a meeting of that body.

At the morning session, Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, took the stand at his own request, and put into the record his correspondence with C. C. Hamlin, of Colorado Springs, Colo., concerning publicity which the beet sugar interests hoped to get through the Associated Press.

PROBERS BACK AT CAPITAL

Senate Mine Investigating Committee Returns to Washington After Hard Week in The Coal Regions

Washintgon, June 19.—Three tired United States Senators came back to Washington today after a week of strenuous investigation in the coal strike district of West Virginia. Senators Swanson, Kenyon and Martine returned to the Senate to take up their legislative duties.

During a week in Charleston the committee examined nearly a hundred witnesses, worked 10 or 12 hours a day, often sitting until after midnight, and took about 1,000,000 words of testimony. The committee will resume hearings in Washington in a few weeks and will take up the charge of the West Virginia coal operators that the miners' union is in league with operators in the competitive fields of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois to ruin the West Virginia industry.

When the committee resumes the coal operators will press their complaint that Senator Martine has prejudiced the case against them. They will be asked to be allowed to place in the record written statements by Senator Martine criticising the operators. The attitude of Senator Martine will be taken up by the sub-committee and probably will be presented to the full committee on education and labor.

KISS COSTS PASTOR PULPIT

Married Woman With Whom He Sympathized Received the Salute

Richmond, Va., June 19.—Because, through sympathy, he kissed a married woman, a member of his congregation, the Rev. David Francis, pastor of the Third Christian church, of this city, was relieved of his charge by the official board, after an investigation into the charges.

The board agreed not to publish its findings in detail after exacting a promise from Mr. Francis not to attempt to occupy a pulpit in the Christian church again.

Mr. Francis does not deny that he kissed the woman, but does deny that the kiss was implanted with improper intent. The woman, who had been confiding to the pastor her troubles, appeared at his boarding house last week, and when she commenced to cry he comforted her with a touch of his lips upon her cheek.

The deposed pastor came to Richmond from Nova Scotia last October. He is married, and members of his congregation speak of him as an especially gifted and forceful speaker. He stated today he would remain in Richmond, but had not decided what his future occupation would be.

CONVENTION ADJOURNS

American Association of Dairy, Food and Drug Officials

Mobile, Ala., June 19.—The American Association of Dairy, Food and Drug officials concluded their convention here this evening, naming officers and deciding to meet next year at Kinco, on Moose Head Lake, Maine. Resolutions were adopted that the association use its influence to secure a law standardizing the strength of proprietary medicines which would be recognized by the United States Pharmacopeia. Another resolution passed unanimously seeks a new method of labelling food and rugs "guaranteed under the pure food and rugs act of 1906" so that the "label may have a meaning."

The following officers were named: James H. Wallis, of Idaho, president; J. S. Abbott, Texas, first vice president; S. E. Strode, Ohio, second vice president; S. C. Dinsmore, Nevada, third vice president; H. F. Potter, Connecticut, treasurer; W. M. Allen, North Carolina, secretary.

TORNADO STRIKES TALLAHASSEE FLA

Capitol Building Unroofed and Many Other Structures Damaged

ALMOST SEVERE AS CYCLONE

Storm Lasted For 15 Minutes—Great Property Destruction—Communication Cut Off—Crops Are Damaged

Tallahassee, Fla., June 19.—A tornado verging onto a cyclone swept over this city late yesterday, unroofing the State capitol and many stores, ruining the stocks of merchants, tearing trees out by the roots and twisting telegraph, telephone and electric light poles off at the base, plunging the city into darkness and cutting off communication with the outside world for hours. The paper stocks of the State printer at the capitol was ruined.

The funnel of rain, mud and hail swept across the county, killing and maiming livestock, damaging the cotton and corn crops and razing buildings. So far no loss of life has been reported, but it is feared that many negroes have been injured or killed in the ruins of their shacks on the farms. The historic trees in the park were twisted off at the roots and nearly every store in town was flooded with rain and hail. Many small houses were demolished.

The storm lasted 15 minutes and succeeded a deadly calm, hot, oppressive day.

Mobile Struck

Mobile, Ala., June 19.—Considerable damage was done along the Mobile water front last night by a storm which lasted but a few minutes, during which the wind reached a high velocity. The Norwegian bark Francis Hagerup was torn from her moorings, the schooner M. J. Taylor broke her lines and crashed into another schooner, and the river steamer Charles May, in course of construction, was blown across the river and badly damaged. A portion of the roof of the new municipal sheds was blown off. The temperature dropped 10 degrees in 15 minutes.

REPORTS CONFLICTING.

Battle Fought Near Rodriguez—American Prisoners.

Laredo, Texas, June 19.—Conflicting reports were received here tonight of a battle fought today at the town of Rodriguez, Mexico, 40 miles south of the border, between the Federal army and of Gen. Tellez, said to number about 2,000 men, and a rebel band.

Dispatches from the constitutionalist rendezvous at Colombia assert that the Federals were routed after a number had been killed or wounded, and cannon and supplies taken. Mexican Consul Lozane, of this city, has advices that the attacking party, a small band of rebels, were put to flight, and that Gen. Tellez has resumed his march to Nuevo Laredo to reinforce the garrison there.

Notwithstanding their disavowal of the charges, C. H. Rippeteau and Henry Crumpler, Americans, who were taken prisoners by the constitutionalists today on the charge that they are in the employ of the Huerta government, were still under detention at Colombia tonight. John Bautista, a Mexican, who was also arrested, has been released. The American consul has reported the matter to the State Department.

GENERAL REUNION

Commencement Programme Being Carried Out at Harvard

Cambridge, Mass., June 19.—All the Harvard class reunions that had occupied the week were merged in a general reunion today in honor of the 653 men who received degres from Prsident Lowell.

The commencement programme was notable also for the bestowal by the University of sixteen honorary degrees. The degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon Dr. Lauro S. Muller, the Brazilian minister of foreign affairs, who was a guest of Harvard today. Others who received that degree were Luke Wright, former member of the Philippines commission, and Judge John Clinton Gray, United States Court of Appeals.

SCHOONER RIVERSIDE SINKS

Reported by Wireless—No Explanation of the Loss

San Francisco, June 19.—Wireless messages received today from the liner Admiral Farragut reported the sinking of the steam lumber schooner Riverside off Cape Mendiocino, on a dangerous stretch of the northern California coast. The crew of 36 was taken off by the boats of the Farragut, and a tug from Eureka, Cal., summoned by wireless. No explanation of the loss of the ship was given, but it is supposed she struck a reef and floated into deep water before going down.

THIRD ATTEMPT UNSUCESSFUL.

Giant Cruiser Resists All Efforts at Launching.

Hamburg, Germany, June 19.—A third attempt was made today to launch the German battleship cruiser Derfflinger, but without success. She was christened last Saturday and refused to move from the stocks. A second attempt yesterday to launch her failed.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

ATHLETICS TAKE FINAL GAME

The Philadelphia Athletics after a lapse of one day, were back in the winning business again yesterday, taking the final game with the Chicago Cubs by a 2 to 0 score. The game was a pitchers' battle between Brown and Russell, the Sox making a total of only four hits off Brown, while Russell issued only three safeties. Wonderful catches by Walsh and Mattick robbed Brown and Bodie of extra base hits.

Jamie Boehling pitched his first full-inning game for Washington yesterday and was "there" in every sense of the word, holding the master hand through the engagement and winning his game 6 to 3. Cy Falkenburg was batted out of the box early in the game and was replaced by Blanding.

The Chance Yankee won the final from St. Louis, 10 to 4, Sweeney bringing in or making five of the runs of the Yanks.

The Boston Red Sox batted their way to a victory in the last game of the engagement with Detroit, the visitors threatneing in only one inning, the ninth, when Bedient replaced O'Brien. Ty Cobb closed the game with a grounder to Bedient, the final score being 5 to 4.

WHITEVILLE NEWS NOTES.

Mass Meeting to Plan for Columbus County Court House.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., June 19.—Since the heavy rains last week the farmers are kept busy in the fields. The grass had made good headway and a lot of work is necessary to put the crops in proper condition.

The Commissioners have called a mass meeting on the first Monday in July to solve the problems involved in the planning, locating, financing and building the new Court House. The architect was authorized at their last meeting to draw up the plans in detail and advertise for sealed bids.

Mrs. J. J. Ammons, who has had the management of the Columbus Hotel for several years, left today to join Mr. Ammons on their farm north of here. Mrs. Grace D. Tripp, of Maxton, succeeds her. Mrs. Tripp has been in the hotel business for a number of years, having had charge of the Maple Side Inn at Maxton recently. She is accompanied here by her two daughters, Misses Althea and Ivora.

A license was issued from the register of deed's office yesterday for the marriage of Mr. Kilby Benton, of Chadbourn, and Miss Fannie L. Elliott, of Fair Bluff. The groom-elect is 72 years of age and the bride 54.

A. W. MOYE CONVICTED.

Former Revenue Commissioner Fined for Selling Whiskey.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Durham, N. C., June 19.—A. W. Moye, former United States Commissioner, was found guilty yesterday on three charges of violation of the prohibition laws by the Recorder. He was fined $100 in each case. The first charge was one of selling beer. The second charge was that of soliciting orders for a Virginia whiskey house. He was found guilty by the Recorder under the search and seizure law. Moye's place was searched, no whiskey was found, but bills of lading for considerable quantities of whiskey and beer were found.

This case was watched with considerable interest on account of the prominence of the defendant. Until recently he was United States Commissioner.

MOVE COLLEGE TO KINSTON.

Free Will Baptists Considering Plans for Ayden School.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., June 19.—The college of the Free Will Baptists in North Carolina, now located at Ayden, 18 miles from here, may be moved to this city, according to information given out by Mayor Fred I. Sutton today.

The college was established at Ayden some years ago, together with the plant and office of the State organ of the denomination. The printing plant was recently burned out, and the Free Will Baptists are inclined to believe that their seminary will be more prosperous in a larger place than Ayden. As the printery will have to be rebuilt and it is intended shortly to replace the frame structures of the college with brick administration, auditorium and dormitory buildings, it is claimed by those advocatng the removal that now is the time to make the change to a more suitable location.

A committee from the Kinston Chamber of Commerce, headed by the mayor, waited upon members of the executive committee who live in Ayden and learned that Kinston would be favorably considered as the home for the institution and paper, although the town of Ayden is expected to make some resistance, however feeble, to prevent their removal. There are about 15 members of the board of directors of the college, and most of these, it is thought, will favor this city, although one or two in the western part of the State desire it to be located farther west. The local Chamber of Commerce has appointed a committee to secure options on sites, and the property and a substantial cash donation will probably be offered for bringing the college here. The Baptists' seminary now has an attendance of about 200 and an encouraging prospect.

AMENDMENT RECOMMENDED.

To Check Immigration Complications on Pacific Coast.

Washington, June 19.—To check further complications of Pacific coast problems by unrestrained admission of Hindus and the Malay races of Asia, to continental United States from the American insular possessions, Secretary of Labor Wilson, on recommendations of Commissioner General of Immigration Caminetti, today made a far-reaching amendment to the immigration regulations.

The modification authorizes immigration officials at mainland ports "to reject aliens coming from the insular possessions, unless it sholud appear that at the time of entry thereto they were not members of the excluded classes or likely to become public charges."

This action was the outcome of the cases of three Hindus—Sohan Singh, Bashan Singh and Sadhu Singh—who arrived at San Francisco from the Philippines, and were detained on the ground that they might become public charges. The circumstances in this case, however, caused Secretary Wilson to authorize the admission of the Hindus today. Several thousand Hindus are in the Philippines, and several hundred in Hawaii. It has been the practice to open the doors of the United States proper to the races, upon presentation of certificates showing they were examined and passed at an American insular port of entry. As the law does not specifically differentiate between entries in the United States and the insular possessions, officials anticipate litigation over the amended regulations, unless Congress confirms them by statute.

WITH THE MOVIES

Bijou's Daily Bill.

'Tis a great show the popular Bijou will offer the people of Wilmington today, surrounded by great comfort, because the Bijou is ever electrically cooled and perfectly and hygienically ventilated. In fact, there is nothing at all small about the Bijou, save the price—5 cents. Today's bill is one of those that will both thrill and tickle. "A Business Shark" is a throbbing, exciting dramatic that heads today's bill. Another topliner in the dramatic line will be Lubin's "Breeds of the West," which is a blood stirrer from start to finish. Leading the fun pictures is Essanay's merriest success, "The Capture," in which charming Ruth Hennessy and clever "Billy" Mason play the star roles. Its a laugh a second. So today's Bijou bill just must not be missed.

Special at the Grand

The Grand Theatre, where cool breezes always hold forth and which is perfectly ventilated, makes a stupendous offering today, presenting as the big star Kalem's latest and greatest two-reel film, "The Cheyenne Massacre," a special release subject, and comes direct to The Grand. Splendid incidental music will also mark its presentation but the price of admission will not be raised. It will be 5 cents, afternoon and night. The massacre scene is a thriller of most spectacular nature, while the attack on the fort and the charge of the soldiers to the rescue, are most exciting. There is another photoplay star on today in the Biograph's "If We Only Knew," which is a beautiful dramatic, with a big moral.

DEPARTMENTS NEED FUNDS

Congress Will be Asked to Appropriate Eight Million Dollars

Washington, June 19.—Government departments urgently need $8,000,000, and today Secretary McAdoo asked Congress to appropriate for the deficiencies and emergencies. The Inter-State Commerce Commission needs $1,500,000 for the physical valuation of railroads, $1,000,000 must be had to repay Mississippi river flood relief expenses of the War and Navy departments, $250,000 to begin the Arlington National cemetery memorial ampitheatre, $100,000 for the new industrial relations commission, $160,000 for the new Department of Labor, $8,000 for the Atlantic iceberg patrol, $100,000 for the production cost investigation of the Bureau of Domestic and Foreign Commerce, $100,000,000 for replacing stores destroyed in the Benecia arsenal, California, $500,000 for various public building projects and $39,000 for the Civil Service Commission's examination of all fourth-class postmasters.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Pugilist Who Slew McCarty Arraigned for Trial.

Calgary, Alberta, June 19.—Arthur Pelkey, pugilist, pleaded not guilty today when arraigned for trial for the death of Luther McCarty, who died in the ring during a fight with Pelkey.

The six men chosen for the jury, completed shortly after noon, are prominent citizens of Calgary.

An agreement was made before the trial that the jury would have to agree whether the fatal contest of May 24th was a boxing match or a prize fight. Crown Prosecutor James Short, in addressing the jury, asserted that the blow aimed by Pelkey struck McCarty on the jaw and dislocated his neck, causing death.

"If a boxing contest," said he, "Pelkey might not be guilty; if a prize fight, it was illegal, and Pelkey, if he struck the blow was guilty of manslaughter."

GIANTS THREATEN THE PHILS

Only One and a Half Games Now Between Them and First—Dodgers Are Still Winning—Braves Broke Hoodoo

The proposition that is today confronting Charlie Dooin, chief of the National League leaders, is anything but a condition conducive to peaceful slumbers or pleasant dreams, the Philly flag that has been waving over the topmost perch in the percentage column for two months, being in grave danger of being furled in favor of the New York Giants.

Just one and a half games is all that divides McGraw's team from the coveted perch. The Giants play a game with the Pittsburgh Pirates today and go home for a series with the Brooklyn Dodgers beginning tomorrow. The Giants stand at least an equal show to win today's game, and as the Brooklyns have just emerged from a series in which they took three out of four games, something is about due to drop in their camp. On the other hand, the Phillies, after resting today and giving the Giants a chance to creep up a half game near, start an engagement with the Boston Braves tomorrow. The Braves have just broken a hoodoo lasting over an entire week, and won yesterday's game from Pittesburgh and possibly may repeat tomorrow, having a double-header scheduled with the Phillies. Should New York win today's and tomorrow's games and the Phillies loose the double-header with Boston tomorrow, the National League champions will take top position by a lead of seven points.

Snodgrass, who once muffed a fly in a world series game to the utter demolishment of the Giants' championship hopes, evened up matters yesterday by winning the final game from Cincinnati for his team.

The Brooklyn Car Dodgers took another game from St. Louis yesterday and took third position, routing Chicago, who lost yesterday's conflict.

Phillies Took Final

Chicago, June 19. — Philadelphia won from Chicago today 2 to 1, and pulled the locals down into fourth place as the Brooklyn team defeated St. Louis and moved up a notch. Wilbur Good, utility outfielder, batted for Lavender and clouted the ball to the left field fence for a home run.

Snodgrass Evens Up

Cincinati, June 19.—New York won an exciting game today 8 to 7, and thereby made a clean-sweep of the series of four games. Snodgrass' triple with three men on bases in the second inning was the batting feature.

Dodgers Take Third Place

St. Louis, June 19.—Brooklyn, by hard and timely hitting off two St. Louis pitchers today, won the final game of the series 11 to 5. Marbet, a recruit, listed but one and one-third innings, in which time the visitors made eight hits count for five runs. Manager Huggins was banished for disputing a decision by Umpire Byron.

Another Hoodoo Banished

Pittsburgh, June 19.—With Pittsburgh runners on second and third and two out in the eighth inning today, Mann, Boston's center fielder, muffed Wilson's long fly and Vlox and Wagner scored. That muff broke Pittsburgh's long losing streak, the team winning 5 to 4, after losing six straight games.

ANOTHER RACE MARRED.

Ascot, England, June 19.—The race for the Ascot Gold Cup, one of the most coveted prizes of the English turf, was marred today by an incident similar to that which brought the King's horse down in the Derby, when Emily Wilding Davison sought and found death in the cause of the militant suffragettes. In this case it was a man, Harold G. Hewitt, who emulated Miss Davison's feat.

According to the Ascot police, Hewitt was not connected with the suffragettes, but was of unsound mind, and of a type peculiarly liable to be carried away by the imitative impulse. He suffered the same penalty for his temerity as did Miss Davison—a fracture at the base of the skull.

At a late hour tonight Hewitt was lying unconscious in a hospital after undergoing an operation in the forlorn hope that his life might be saved.

King George and Queen Mary, ex-King Manuel of Portugal, the Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Sweden, the Duke of Connaught, Governor General of Canada, and Princess Patricia, and a number of lesser royalties, were watching the race from the royal stand.

Coming down the straight, August Belmont's famous colt Tracery, a son of Rock Sand, shot into the lead. He was going like a well-oiled piece of machinery, and soon had the nearest horse several lengths behind. Seemingly Tracery was assured of an easy victory.

Suddenly a man jumped from the rails waving a red flag with one hand and with the other pointing a revolver at Jockey Whalley, who had the mount on Tracery.

"Pull up! Pull up! Or I'll shoot you!" the man shouted.

Whalley did his best to divert the horse's course, but failed. Tracery, striking the man full in the chest with his shoulder, sent him flying several yards and came down on his nose. Whalley shot clear out of the saddle, but, being an adept at taking a toss, fell on his back and rolled to safety under the rails.

Meantime the other horses came thundering on, one of them giving the author of all the trouble, who lay sprawling, a terrible kick on the head in passing.

Save for some bruises Whalley was uninjured, and when the King sent for him he walked stiffly to the royal box to receive congratulations on his escape.

The Ascot Cup was won by the five-year-old Prince Palatine, owned by T. P. Pitkington. The race was at two and a half miles, with 3,500 sovereigns added.

FOURTEEN KILLED.

Electric Trains Crash Head-on—Confusion of Orders.

Vallejo, Cal., June 19.—A confusion of orders brought death to 14 persons today when two electric trains met head-on near here while running at high speed. Eleven were instantly killed, three died within a short time and three of the 30 or more injured, are perhaps fatally hurt.

The conductor of one of the trains who took orders by telephone from the despatcher just before the accident, is among those probably fatally injured. Nearly all of the killed or injured were residents of Vallejo and vicinity.

"Clincher" Paint

We know a paint which holds to the wood like a driven nail. Seasoned lumber is porous. The pores are the empty sap-cells. White lead paint, which dries on the wood in the form of a solid, elastic film, fastens into these pores, and the whole coat of paint is actually riveted like armor-plate to the surface it decorates and protects.

Lewis White Lead

(Dutch Boy Painter Trade-Mark)

and Lewis Dutch Boy Linseed Oil

make the paint that spreads into a solid body. It becomes a part of the wood itself—an outer layer that preserves the life of the lumber.

MAXWELL PLAN ENDORSED

Wide Approval of Proposition to Organize Million Dollar Boat Line to Wilmington, to Lower Freight Rates.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 19.—The solution proposed by A. J. Maxwell, principle clerk to the Corporation Commission, in his address before the North Carolina Merchants' Association at Wrightsville Beach yesterday for the freight rate discriminations against North Carolina points, so much complained of now, through the establishment of a steamship line to ply between New York and other Northern ports and Wilmington and other North Carolina ports, is eliciting the most favorable comment here.

Numbers of the State officers and other citizens in touch with public sentiment assert that there is not the least doubt that the plan could be worked ou in a most satisfactory manner, so that it would give relief through lower rates throughout the State, even to Asheville, which is no further from the seaboard than Atlanta, an inland market that enjoys low freight rates through Savannah.

Mr. Maxwell's plan to have citizens of the State subscribe $500,000 capital and the State guarantee an additional $500,000 for the establishment of the steamship line of two or more vessels meets with free endorsement and it is asserted that the time is ripe for a movement such as Mr. Maxwell suggests, the opinion being that this course will not only bring the railroads to terms, but will prove profitable in a commercial way.

Governor Craig granted a pardon today for Riley Davis, who is serving a four months sentence in Stanly county for retailing. The pardon is conditioned on good behavior and is on acount of bad physical condition, the county authorities, the judge and other court officers joining in the request for pardon.

Two charters were granted today. The Pearson Remedy Co., Burlington, capital $25,000 by R. H. Pearson and others, for special remedy and drug store business. The Griffin Drug Co., Rocky Mount, capital $10,000 authorized and $5,000 subscribed by Milton P. Davis and others.

Hon. James R. Young, Commissioner of Insurance, has gone to Richmond for a meeting of the executive committee of the National Convention of State Commissioners of Insurance to be held there this week for consideration of a number of pending matters, including the approval of a new form for insurance companies to observe in making their annual reports.

During the term of the Federal Court last week the aggregate of the sentences imposed on those convicted was 27 years and nine months. There were only two white men sentenced to the penitentiary. These were John H. Kirkpatrick, the Delaware white man who was implicated with three negroes in the attempt to get away with a lost express package containing $700. He got five years, three of them being for his attempt to saw out of the Wake county jail. The other white man is J. D. Farrall, of Durham county, sentenced to one year for blockading. He sent a certificate of sickness here at the opening of the court as an excuse for not coming in for trial. A capias was sent for him and his trial expected. There are eight negroes who received sentences. United States Marshal Claudius Dockery and a number of guards started last evening for Atlanta with the convicts, traveling in a special car.

The expectation is that the Y. M. C. A. building will be opened within the next week. It has been completed for two months, but inability to collect subscriptions in order that an acceptable amount might be paid to the contractors before the building was turned over to the directors has stayed off the opening. Plans are being made now for the opening ceremonies.

AN OLD SOLDIER GONE

Death of Mr. David George Removes Splendid Citizen

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Clarkton, N. C., June 19.—One more old soldier answered the roll call when Mr. David George died at his residence near Whiteville Monday the 16th, at 2 A. M., in his 91st year. Mr. George belonged to Lane's Brigade, Capt. F. M. Wooten's company and served until he was captured and carried to Point Lookout, where he remained in prison until the end of the war. No braver soldier went to the front than he, as was said by his nephew and pastor, Rev. F. T. Wooten, who conducted the funeral services. He was ever ready to serve his church, county and State in whatever capacity he was called upon to serve; and while he never sought office he was of value to his county in a general way. He was a farmer, and in politics was a loyal Democrat. He belonged to one of the best families in Eastern Carolina. He leaves several children, Messrs. David and Fred George, and Misses Syrena and Lizzie George and Mrs. Elvia Dove, of Elizabethtown; and a large number of relatives, including a number of nephews and nieces, Mrs. V. V. Richardson, Mrs. Pink High, Mrs. Albert Toon, of Whiteville, and Mr. Alfred Smith, of Conway, S. C.; Mrs. T. J. Wooten, of Maxton, and Mrs. Matilda Monroe, of Whitehall; Mrs. Eliza Peacock, of Cochran, Ga., and Rev. F. T. Wooten, of Chadbourn, and Mr. Eric Wooten, of Clarkton.

The interment was at the Western Prong cemetery at noon Tuesday the 17th, the pallbearers were Messrs. Snowden Singletary, Chas. Lennon, Alexander Nance, Davie Meares, D. H. Cook and P. Page.

Judge Webb Decides Rockdale-Brownsville Election Was Valid

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lauringburg, N. C., June 19.—The Rockdale-Brownsville school controversy which Judge Webb heard while holding court here recently, and in which he made no decision before leaving Laurinburg, has been decided by him. His decision is that the election was valid and the results as declared in the matter, which was only a majority of eight favoring the proposition of combining the schools into one school to be located at Rockdale, shall stand. There is some probability of its being carried to the Supreme Court, and even this decision may not end this unfortunate controversy.

A plan is on foot to secure an endowment for the historic Caledonia cemetery so as to provide perpetual care of the graves. Some of those interested have formulated a plan which they desire to submit to a meeting at Caledonia church.

In a communication from Washington, the information comes that Mr. William N. McKenzie, of the Mason Cross section of Scotland county, has been recommended to the director of the census for the position of cotton statistician for Scotland county.

An afternoon fire, started by children playing with matches, burned the wood and chicken house at the Baptist parsonage Tuesday. Prompt response and work of the fire department doubtless saved the parsonage and other nearby homes.

The Laurinburg baseball team met its first defeat Tuesday afternoon at the hands of Wadesboro, on the latter's grounds. Score 4 to 6.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McRae and children left today for Asheville for the Summer. Mr. McRae owns an elegant home in the mountain city, and he and his family spend the Summer months there each year.

Mr. Bob Covington, a local boy, who is doing some great pitching for the local baseball team and who played with Bingham at Asheville the past school season, has had an offer to join the Winston-Salem team in the Carolina Association. Mr. Covington has not accepted the offer, and will not immediately on account of his arm, which is not in the best condition at this time. So far this season he has pitched 13 games and lost none. He will pitch his 14th game today against Maxton.

The meeting which has been in progress at the Baptist church for the past ten days, closes Thursday evening. Rev. J. B. Weatherspoon, of Oxford, who has been doing the preaching, left Wednesday for Fort Worth, Texas. He was recently elected to the chair of Old Testament interpretation and Hebrew at the Southwestern Theological Seminary of Fort Worth, and will assume his duties in the Fall.

Wednesday afternoon a wedding of much interest was solemnized in the Presbyterian church of this place, when Mr. Sam McKinnon, of Maxton, and Miss Ruby James, of Laurinburg, were married.

WILMINGTON PRESBYTERIAL.

Twenty-Fifth Annual Meeting at Whiteville—Mrs. Howell's Address.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., June 19.—The 25th annual meeting, the silver anniversary of the Wilmington Presbyterial, formerly known as the Woman's Missionary Union, met in the Presbyterian church here Wednesday night. The exercises were opened with a selection by the choir, after which Mrs. Andrew Howell, of Wilmington, read a few verses of scripture and led the meeting in prayer. "God Will Take Care of You," was sung by the congregation.

Mrs. Howell addressed the meeting, giving a complete history of the Presbyterial from the time of its organization until the present.

The Woman's Missionary Union was founded at the First Presbyterian church, in Wilmington, May 30th, 1888, under the guidance of Rev. Peyton H. Hogue, D. D., and was the second union established by the Southern Presbyterian church. Mrs. B. F. Hall was the first president and Miss Anderson the first secretary.

The Union has held annual meetings with the various societies of the organization, its fourth meeting being held here in June, 1892.

Up to the year 1902 the entire efforts of the society were devoted to foreign missions. Home mission work was then added, and in the same year under the leadership of Mrs. J. C. Stewart, a Children's Missionary Union was organized, composed of 35 young people's societies, 31 of which are still active. She also instituted the Cradle Roll Department.

Mrs. George Worth, who is soon to return to the missionary field in Kiang-Yin, China, voiced the Union's gratitude and appreciation of the 12 years of efficient service rendered by Mrs. B. F. Hall, the first president of the Union.

By request of the meeting, Mrs. Worth sent a telegram to Mrs. Hall, who is now sick in Wilmington, conveying the Presbyterial's love and appreciation of the good and faithful work she has accomplished as leader and co-worker.

Miss Mary Sloan expressed the Union's thankfulness to Mrs. Jackson Johnson, who is now president, for her wise and faithful leadership during the past 13 years.

Two verses of "Blest be the Tie That Binds" were sung by the meeting standing, and the benediction by Rev. W. W. Morton concluded the programme for the evening.

It was the trusts who put the rage in the average man.

What is more delicious than a brimming glass of ice water?

Men have certain inalienable rights till they are alienated from them by the Legislature or Congress.

Secrets are something that leak out with an overflow of gab. Most everybody will believe a secret whether it is improbable or not.

Probably the railroads will begin to get the idea that the Supreme Court ought to be recalled on account of some of its recent decisions.

Dr. Blackford declares that brunettes make the best workers. Nevertheless, the blondes dearly love to look on and see it well done.

Everybody is trying to sell at a good price and buy at a low one. Some people save money by doing without some of the things they want.

A girl knows what a hat pin is for, but so far as a rolling pin is concerned, she will innocently declare that she never saw a pin that would roll.

When a man gets a bad case of dyspepsia and begins to have rheumatism he gets good and stays that way unless the doctor can do something for his relief.

So far, our lady friends have never made a rush for any "old hoss sale." They wonder why a man wants to buy an old horse in these days of the automobile.

A New York court allowed a woman $15,000 alimony a year so she can maintain her station. A man could maintain several stations with that much money to spend.

Club life may spoil a few women, but it broadens and helps women generally. The women's clubs are making 100 women to every one that loses sight of her duty at home.

The verbosity of a man is about the same as the garullity of a woman, with the exception that we just simply give our lady friends credit for their wonderful conversational gifts.

Headline in the Winston-Salem Sentinel: "Bishop Kilgo to Preach on the Square Again." It is a mistaken idea, however, to think for a moment that the virile and brilliant Bishop has ever ceased to preach on the square.

Says the Jacksonville Times-Union: "Don't judge a man by the clothes he wears—rather judge him by those his wife wears." Judging him by one of those filmy, abbreviated evening dresses, it might be said that there isn't much to him.

None of the people have been caught hanging around Wilmington lobbying for a tax on themselves for the benefit of any of the special interests. Lobbying is always done by those who are directly interested or who are paid for possessing persuasive talent of a high order.

The Missouri jury which awarded a girl 50 cents for being forcibly kissed, only fixed the price so far as Missouri is concerned. A North Carolina jury would have sent out for a blackboard and a dozen boxes of crayons in order to figure up even nominal damages on a recalcitrant.

Always give the public a square deal. The public is another name for the sovereigns, and sooner or later they will do a little crushing on their own account. You can monkey with the public for a little while, sometimes for a long while, but not all the while. When public sentiment is overwhelming come on in and make it unanimous.

Take a view of the perspective of progress and be an intensely interested spectator of the growth and expansion of Winsome, Worthwhile Wilmington. In the meantime, cease the commonplace custom of watching Wilmington grow. Get right in the procession and let others watch you help to make Wilmington get a hump on her. The only city that gets a hump on it is the one whose people have a hump on them.

"COULD RAISE CATTLE."

"Could Raise Cattle" is the headline of an editorial in the Raleigh Times. The Times, of course, is under the impression that we could but we can't do it. We can't do it because we won't. We can't raise cotton in North Carolina. We can't raise tobacco in North Carolina. We can't do anything in North Carolina—that is, we can't if we won't. The only reason we can't is that we won't. Let us understand each other. It is not because we can't, but because we won't.

We can't! Can't we? Let us discuss this question from an utterly ridiculous and perfectly absurd standpoint. Of course, we can't do anything in North Carolina. We can go West and do it. Let George do it in North Carolina. Well, George is doing it. George is showing us how. George has come here and George is under the impression that what we can't do in North Carolina can't be done anywhere else. If we can't, why others can't.

Those people who say we can't ought to move West just as soon as they can pull up pegs and get away. The West can educate them. They will learn something. In the meantime they can unload their lands on George and leave him the bag to hold. George is a sucker and doesn't know any better than to pay $10 an acre for land that wouldn't sprout peas. Well it wouldn't if we planted the peas like we have been planting them. However, George doesn't do that way. We happen to know George, but George can go to grass while we recall this from the Raleigh Times, which very highly esteemed contemporary is under the impression that "We could Raise Cattle" in North Carolina:

"If a man from another part of the country were to come here and ask the flat question as to the two things which Wake county farmers have most overlooked the reply would be easy—the raising of cattle and the utilization of meadows. There are splendid meadow lands all about Raleigh and not a hundredth part of them is put to use. It was Dr. Tait Butler who ten years ago, when State veterinarian, remarked to the writer that North Carolina could produce vastly more cattle than Texas; could pasture more to the acre and get more money for them. Yet cattle raising is so small a thing here in Wake that it is hardly worth mentioning, for the writer knows of only three farmers who fatten cattle for market. There is good money in the profit on the meat, but this is only a part of it. The fertilization of the land is the real consideration. Wake can be made a cattle raising county. It used to be one, though of course there were no great markets and no large demands in those days. Today we are meat buyers. Dr. Tait Butler used to say that it made him feel full of disgust when he saw, as he often did, a farmer haul hay into the country; hauling it away from Raleigh, instead of towards the city. Commissioner of Agriculture Graham declares that a farmer is not entitled to the name until he raises on his farm the food supplies for man and beast."

Why the meadow? There is our old friend, Dr. Tait Butler, brought into the question, and we have him referring to North Carolina meadow lands and declaring that "North Carolina could produce vastly more cattle than Texas—could pasture more to the acre and get more money for them." Dr. Butler is right, but why not let George do it? Why does a North Carolinian want to undertake it when somebody else can do so? Why not let the "pauper labor" of Europe come here and do it? Why not let George do it?

Well, George is doing it all right. We know foreigners who landed in Wilmington without a cent, but they are now farming and lending money and lending money and farming. Do you know what a foreigner does with your average meadow? Why he drains the darned thing, rips it up with a double-chillied Oliver plow, and produces more forage and cattle feed than an ordinary neglected meadow would do in 20 years. We've got a kind of poetic idea about the "meadow green", but the Scandinavian farmer comes here and spoils the whole thing. He turns the meadow into something else and makes the meadow ashamed of itself.

We've got a friend who is one of the Georges who do things. We used to "set 'em up" to him a few years ago. He is a sort of plutocrat now, but he still speaks to us. He's got a "car" and a farm of less than 25 acres. Part of it is in pine thickets, but the thickets are full of cattle and hogs. He plants eight acres in vetch, and rye, alfalfa and rye, vetch and corn broadcasted, truck of various kinds, and food crops. He plants no cotton. Last year he cut and stored away $2,100 worth of ensilage, lived off the place, fed 12 cows, fattened 100 hogs and never bought a cent's worth of forage. He raised cattle, hogs and poultry, fed them from eight acres, converted his crops into milk, butter, beef and pork, and pocketed $4,100.

No, we can't do a darned thing in North Carolina unless we try, and without we know how to do it. Twenty years ago we were offered land like George's for $1 an acre. That's honest. George would not sell out his for $500 an acre. Who the dickens would swap North Carolina for Texas? When we apply intelligence to the adaptabilities of this incomparable region, we won't speculate on whether we can raise cattle or not. We will go to work and do it. George laughs at us, and in that respect we take a hand with George.

MAKING ASSETS OF RESOURCES

Apple-growing is being made a commercial industry in Western North Carolina. Last year mountain apples to the value of $500,000 were shipped to Northern markets where they reach the consuming millions that are ready buyers of everything we produce. Nearness to the great markets is adding greater value to the productive resources of North Carolina. There we find the demand, and here we find the resources for production. So long as there are nearby millions anxious for what North Carolina produces, so long will it encourage production here and enable us to develop our resources to meet a sure demand.

The apple-growing industry in the mountain regions of North Carolina is making rapid progress. A freakish Spring, such as comes every now and then in a lifetime, may reduce the apple crop this season, but the increasing orchards will enable the growers in a year or two to make three or four times greater shipments than were made last season. If North Carolina can double her apple crop next year it will mean a new productive resource of $1,000,000. It is possible to make it $2,000,000, $3,000,000, $5,000,000 and so on. There is a future for the industry and the time will soon come when the mountain people will marvel that they so long neglected the development of a resource that is bound to greatly increase the wealth of the Appalachian region. When our varied sources of wealth are developed one after another, what a rich country this will be! There are many others. Verily, we haven't begun to scratch the surface. A few known sources of wealth have been more or less developed. There are others little thought of or as yet undiscovered.

Producing apples on a commercial basis means growing a sufficient quality of apples to be shipped in carload lots. In that way a satisfactory shipping rate can be secured, and best of all, good transportation facilities for handling the crop. The probability is that the railroads through the mountains are now operating apple trains just like they are running strawberry and truck trains, composed of refrigerator cars, out of the Wilmington district, melon trains from the Laurinburg-Maxton district, or peach trains from Georgia. It requires transportation and efficient equipment to commercialize the fruit industry, and Western North Carolina is getting that now because its apple crop warrants it.

The Wilmington district must commercialize the peach-growing industry, together with scores of other early and late fruits for which this section is so admirably adapted. Why should we neglect that source of wealth? Why should we neglect the cattle, sheep and stock industry which ought to bring millions of dollars into North Carolina? When we develop the money-getting resources of North Carolina we can turn the tide of wealth in this direction.

Why should either North Carolina or Georgia spend more than all the money they get for their cotton crops in order to feed themselves and their stock on Western products? According to Secretary Cooper, of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, Georgia lacks $37,000,000 annually of making enough money out of its cotton crop to pay for the food supplies brought into that State. Nothing more need be said to emphasize the fact that we are actually neglecting to develop our agricultural resources.

With all these resources neglected, and opportunities by the hundreds awaiting takers, this would be a great country for live people to come to.

BRUNSWICK COUNTY AND THE BRIDGE

It appears as if Brunswick county is going to put it up to New Hanover county as to building the two bridges that are to connect the two counties at Wilmington. The agreement is that if Wilmington or New Hanover builds a bridge over the Cape Fear, Brunswick county will bridge the Brunswick river. For the benefit of many newcomers, it should be stated that Eagles Island just opposite the city on the west lies mostly in Brunswick county and that it is an island lying between the eastern branch of the Cape Fear and its western branch, known as Brunswick river. A causeway crosses the island and will connect the two bridges which the sister counties propose to erect in their onward march of progress. Now see here what the Southport News says about Brunswick's election on the 8th of July to vote bonds to carry out her part of the agreement:

"An election has been called by the proper authorities for the eighth of July, to determine whether the county of Brunswick shall issue $40,000 worth of bonds for the purpose of building a bridge across the Brunswick river to meet a bridge to be built across Cape Fear river by New Hanover county. Notice of said election was published in this paper in issue of June the fifth.

"New Hanover county has agreed that if we vote the bonds and get ready to build our bridge they will vote bonds to build theirs. In other words, they want us to assure them that we will build our bridge before they will make a move. Should the bond issue carry we do not in any way obligate ourselves to build the bridge until the county of New Hanover has issued their bonds and built their bridge.

"The bridge would be a great benefit to Brunswick county as a whole and to the citizens individually. The time has been when we had some reason to fear Wilmington and New Hanover county, but that time is past. We are now face to face with a chance to call the bluff of our neighbor county. We can vote for the bridge with practical assurance that it will not be built for several years at least, because we do not obligate ourselves to build our bridge until Hanover has built hers, and Hanover right now is in no condition whatever to vote bonds to build a bridge. Heretofore it has always been the cry of New Hanover county that she was willing but that we would not do our part."

Editor Haman is putting it right square up to New Hanover, and at length he urges reasons why the bridges will be of great value to Brunswick, in fact to both counties. Such a connection across the rivers and the island would be the most progressive undertaking that the two counties could enter into, and it would mean a tremendous development for Southport, Brunswick, Wilmington and New Hanover. No step toward any kind of progress can be a mistake. No county can develop by standing still, and we have an idea that Brunswick is going to call our hand. We hope she will. It means everything to Southport and Brunswick and just as much to Wilmington. It would be a bound forward for this entire section.

If honesty, integrity, patience, forbearance, courage, sobriety and morality are not inculcated by home influence and academic training, all laws proposing to do it are unavailing. Begin at mother's knee, but while she is doing her best father's night key should not be made to do service all times of the night. When a boy gets old enough to have a night key he wants to do like father. He generally does, unless his mother persuades him not to. In his recent address at the University of North Carolina, Vice President Marshall said: "The unleashed passion of today is for social success at any price. The growing need of today is for cultured men who know and dare to maintain the right." Everlastingly true, but with passion for social success unleashed at home and running amuck in society, what can a boy do but follow suit when everybody is right in the game?

Mr. A. J. Maxwell, secretary of the Corporation Commission, declared in his speech that this port, with its deep water route to the world, is bottled up by the railroads, that ten miles outside this city is the highest rated territory in the State. Do we need port development? Does the State need it?

North Carolina built a coast-to-mountain railway that is now one of the agencies that maintains rates that cripple industry. There is nothing wrong, therefore, with the idea of North Carolina building a steamship line to bring about better conditions.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The only explanation we can give of the conduct of the reverend brother who marched into a Cincinnati hotel lobby and proceeded to change his socks is that he is a somnambulist and thought he was home in Wilmington.—Columbia State.

Official information from Washington that all of the $40,000 that North Carolina is to receive for model rural route road building will have to be expended on a consecutive piece of road, completely changes the line-up of the contests for apportionment of this fund. Governor Craig having stated that he would divide it in three or four portions for different sections of the State, there had gone in applications, but now the fight will have to be between different central or very accessible sections for the whole amount of $40,000. Now, let's get busy towards inducing Governor Craig to designate the proposed Goldsboro-Wilmington Highway as the place to expend this money.—Mount Olive Tribune.

The lumbermen of western North Carolina are up in arms against certain proposed increases in the freight rates on lumber. The railroads have the matter of the increase before the Inter-State Commerce Commision and a hearing will be held September 27. Meanwhile the North Carolina lumbermen are getting together and are preparing to make a bitter fight on the proposed increase. They declare that the proposed increased rate will take from their pockets $1,000 a day and they further estimate that it will be a tax of more than $10,000,000 on the timber resources of the western part of the State. The Asheville Gazette-News estimates that 100 carloads of lumber are produced in the section affected, every day of the year. According to the new rate the average increase of freight per car, considering both Virginia cities and Eastern points would be about $10, making the $1,000 a day that would be taken out of the profits of the business. One big concern that is now in operation estimates that the new rate would cost it between $25,000 and $30,000 a year; while another company, which is to begin operations at an early date, estimates that the new rate would cost it practically double this amount annually.—Charlotte Chronicle.

MEET IN DURHAM NEXT YEAR

Eleventh Annual Convention of State Merchants' Association Came to End Yesterday—Old Officers Were Re-elected

With the unanimous re-election of all the old officers and the selection of Durham as the place of next meeting, the 11th annual convention of the Merchants' Association of North Carolina, which has been in session the last two days at the Oceanic Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, adjourned yesterday at 12:45 P. M. The meeting yesterday was devoted largely to hearing reports from the local associations, reading of reports of standing committees and other routine matters.

Two cities, Durham and Salisbury, invited the association to meet with them next year, but it was unanimously decided to accept Durham's invitation as the association has never met there.

Following are the officers who were re-elected to serve for the coming year:

President—Joe Garibaldi, Charlotte.

Vice President—E. H. Munson, Wilmington.

Secretary—E. W. Berryhill, Charlotte.

Treasurer—S. P. Burton, Asheville.

As many of the delegates wished to leave on the afternoon trains for their homes, it was decided to have all the reports of committees during the morning session. The committee on conventions reported 27 active local organizations, 16 of which were represented at the convention this year. Reports from the local associations were made by their representatives or read by the secretary, and showed that splendid progress is being made.

At this juncture Mr. Norman Johnson called attention to the importance of having some definite plan for increasing the number of local associations. He stated that one reason many of the smaller associations had failed was because they had attempted to pattern too closely after the larger organizations of the cities. He suggested the advisability of devoting more time to the study of strictly mercantile matters, and less to the delinquent list. While he did not believe that the State association could afford the expense of a regular organization he thought that the State could be divided up into sections, and the associations already in operation could look after working up new associations, and probably do better work than a regular organizer.

Mr. Edward E. Broughton, of Raleigh; Mr. R. L. Poston, of Statesville, and Mr. J. T. Porter, of Charlotte, were appointed by the president a committee on organization to incorporate Mr. Johnson's recommendations into a report which was later read before the convention and adopted.

The Ways and Means committee recommended that the present per capita basis of paying dues be continued, and urged the prompt payment of dues by the members.

The Arbitration and Special Legislative committees had no report to make.

Mr. J. N. McCausland, of Charlotte, read the report of the Transportation committee, which has made a thorough investigation of the discriminatory freight rates existing in this State. The merchants were the first organization to take up the active agitation of the adjustment of freight rates, and it has been a source of gratification, he said, that they have recently secured the hearty co-operation of the North Carolina Chamber of Commerce, the commercial organizations and the Farmers' Union.

The report briefly and concisely outlined the history of the freight rate fight during the past year. A careful study of the situation shows that the North Carolina pays out each year for transportation of freight five million dollars in excess of the amount paid by any other State for the same quantity of freight shipped. With the reduction of 30 per cent in rates, which the merchants have requested, there would be a saving to the State each year of over three million dollars. These figures are astounding in their magnitude, and the railroads have complained that with their revenue so diminished that they could not afford to maintain the present degree of service. It is the opinion of the committee, however, that by using the amount of skill in the operation of roads as is exercised in operations on Wall Street that it could be done, and the railways still make money.

The Legislative committee reported that no special bills had been presented at the recent meeting of the Legislature, but it is the expectation to take up actively the fight for a modification of the homestead exemption law before the Constitutional convention.

Mr. Norman Johnson urged the importance of having a Southern Merchants' Association, and hoped that by the next meeting some steps might be taken towards organizing such a body.

The president announced that the time had come for selecting the place for the next meeting. An urgent invitation from the Mayor and the Merchants' Association of Salisbury, was read. Mr. W. W. Shaw placed Durham in nomination, and in eloquent words pictured the growth of the various cities of the State. He showed the remarkable growth that Durham has had during the past decade, and stated that as the association had never met at Durham that now was the opportune time. His nomination was seconded by President Garibaldi, and it was unanimously decided to make that city the next meeting place.

Mr. J. Norman Wills, of Greensboro, presented the report of the Resolution committee. Commendation was expressed for the progress made in the freight rate fight; for the last Legislature; for the patriotic fight of Governor Craig in his fight against rate discrimination; for the chairman of the Corporation Commission, Mr. E. L. Travis, who has so nobly represented the State before the Inter-State Commerce Commission. Recommendation was made for a renewal of the fight against the homestead and personal property exemption law and for a uniform standard of valuation of taxable property throughout the State. It was also recommended that a system of rigid inspection for insurable property be maintained by every municipal government, and likewise that the companies unite with the State in maintaining a system of inspection that will lessen losses by fire.

Thanks were expressed to the people of Wilmington for their hospitality to the Oceanic Hotel for its kind and generous treatment, and to the Wilmington press for their careful reports of the meetings.

Mr. E. R. Preston, of Charlotte, was introduced to the association, and spoke eloquently of the merchants, who have been the pioneers, he stated, in the present freight rate agitation. He also said that the association had played a prominent part in the resurrection of many of the dead towns of the State. He referred jokingly to the presence of a large trunk on the platform, the contents of which, he said he had not been able to learn. Vice President Munson, who was in the chair at the time, assured him that it contained nothing stronger than salt water.

A rising vote of thanks was extended Miss L. Male Stevenson, who has served as the assistant secretary during the past year.

The former presidents of the association, Mr. John Dunn, of Newbern; Mr. Archbald Nichols, of Asheville; Mr. Clarence Sawyer, of Asheville, and Mr. Edward E. Broughton, of Raleigh, were made life members. Mr. Broughton being the only one of these gentlemen present responded with appropriate words of appreciation.

The Nominations committee then made its report recommending that all the old officers be retained in their present positions. This was done by a rising vote, but Mr. Johnson suggested that this was illegal as the constitution required that the election be made by ballot. Mr. J. S. MacRae, of Maxton, was authorized to cast the entire vote of the association for these gentlemen.

The 1913 convention came to a close. Most of the visitors left on afternoon and evening trains for their homes, but a few remained for a few days longer to enjoy the pleasures of the resort.

REPORT FOR PAST YEAR

Statement Issued Yesterday Showing Expenditures in Several Departments of the City Government for 12 Months

Statement of the amounts expended by the several departments of the city government for the past fiscal year, ending June 1, 1913, was issued yesterday by Capt. Thos. D. Meares, city clerk and treasurer. It shows that in some of the departments not quite all of the appropriation for the year was expended, while it was necessary to overdraw in some other departments.

The total amount overdrawn to take care of the items in the budget was only $471.83. The large deficit in the city treasury for the past fiscal year was due to items outside of the regular budget. The totals in the statement are given, as follows:

General Expense Account—Appropriation for year, $24,841; audited, $23,923.31; unexpended, $917.69.

Police—Appropriation for year, $40,632; audited, $41,580.43; overdrawn, $948.43. While there was appropriated for detectives last year the sum of $2,000, the statement shows that only $244.80 was expended, leaving balance under this head of $1,755.20. The large amount spent for detective services during the year was paid by private subscription and it is understood that Councilman B. C. Moore, who was in charge of the Department of Public Safety at the time, paid a liberal portion of it out of his own pocket.

Fire—Appropriation for year, $42,010; audited, $39,403.08; unexpended, $2,606.12.

Street Cleaning—Appropriation for year, $36,651; audited, $37,958.74; overdrawn, $1,307.74.

Markets—Appropriation for year, $6,700; audited, $6,580.07; unexpended, $119.93.

Bond and Coupon—Appropriation for year, $79,000; audited, $83,567.48; overdrawn, $4,567.48.

The grand totals show that for the year, outside of the Water and Sewerage Department, there was appropriated $269,983; audited, $269,471.17, showing amount overdrawn to have been $471.83.

Other items audited follow: Loans, $95,000; water and sewerage (operating), $39,989.23; water and sewerage (bonds), $63,575.88; sewerage, $2,838.07; sidewalks, $11,076.34; street improvement funds, $185,056.43; personal injury, $3,132.05; back taxes, $90.70; plumbing, $115; fumigation, $105; tax refunds, $152.37; Fourth street paving, $43; scavenger work, $14,912.31. This makes a grand total audited, $685,559.55.

PLAN SIMPLE AND DIRECT

Scheme to Relieve Freight Situation by Operating State-Aided Boat Line Arouses Prompt Approval and Support.

The proposition advanced by Mr. A. J. Maxwell, clerk to the State Corporation Commission, to raise one million dollars for the purpose of operating a line of steamers between Wilmington and Northern ports, to bring about an equitable adjustment of railroad freight rates, met with very general and very prompt approval and support. Advices to The Star from Raleigh state that citizens and State officers at the Capital City freely endorse the scheme.

While differing in some respects from the plan advanced at Charlotte several days ago, reproduced in this paper, by Mr. C. E. Greenamyer, of Wilmington, it is essentially the same idea and it should not be overlooked that the Wilmington man should have credit for first gaining the attention of State business men for the plan.

Business men in the city welcome the idea and indications are that they will be by no means backward in lending themselves to its development in full if they are given the support of North Carolina business men. The press of the State has already begun to comment favorably on the speech of Mr. Maxwell, as the following from the Raleigh News and Observer of yesterday will indicate:

"The plan for adjustment of our freight rate troubles presented by Mr. A. J. Maxwell, clerk of the Corporation Commission, to the Merchants' Association in annual convention at Wrightsville is one that should challenge the most thoughtful consideration of the people of the State. It has the great advantage that it does not present any question of conflict with legal rights or conflict with Federal authorities, and we see no reason at this time to doubt that if the plan suggested should be adopted by the business men and the State that it will accomplish the result that the whole State is being organized to secure, for it appears to be one that is feasible.

"There can be no possible doubt that there is an intimate relation between our high freight rates and our neglected opportunities for water transportation. As Mr. Maxwell has pointed out, Atlanta is almost as far inland from Savannah as Asheville is from Wilmington, and the reason Atlanta has lower rates on some commodities from the North, across this State, than our own cities have, is because of a low intra-State rate combined with the water rate to Savannah, but where we are bottled up is that we haven't got the water rates to any port in this State. If this is remedied then North Carolina will be in a position to take care of itself at all times.

"The proposition to put on boat lines that will put the Norfolk rates into Wilmington from Northern ports is startling in its simplicity and directness, and we are not able to see why it would not put us in complete command of the situation. The idea of a co-ordinated ownership by the State and the business men of the State is a good one, and would insure business management and would at the same time put the power of the State behind it.

"We commend the general idea to the thoughtful consideration of the people of the State. But in no way should there be any relaxation of the organized effort which is now going on to secure just freight rates, a work in which there should be no division among the people of the State."

NO COUNTY PHYSICIAN.

Assistant Superintendent Will Do This Work for the Present.

The County Board of Health has decided to postpone indefinitely the election of a county physician to succeed Dr. W. D. MacMillan, resigned, and the duties of the county physician will be filled for the present at least by Dr. John Thames, assistant superintendent of health. At a meeting of the board Wednesday night it was practically decided to purchase a runabout for the use of the assistant superintendent in making visits to different parts of the county.

Members of the board have been assigned to have charge of different features of the work of the health department as follows: Dr. Chas. P. Bolles, in charge of the waterworks system insofar as the County Board of Health is connected with it; Dr. John B. Cranmer, in charge of sewerage and disposal plant, so far as the board has supervision of the same. Prof. Washington Catlett, in charge of the county institutions. Mayor Moore, in charge of the enforcement of health laws and sanitary regulations. Chairman Willard will have charge of the executive work of the board and will have general charge of affairs.

SIDEWALK OBSTRUCTIONS.

John D. Bellamy & Son Again Bring Matter to Attention of City.

A communication has been received by Mayor Moore and the five Councilmen from John D. Bellamy & Son, attorneys, with reference to certain obstructions on the sidewalks and called attention to several indictments brought against the city some months ago for allowing these obstructions to remain. Attention is directed particularly to the Straus property on Second street, between Dock and Orange; the Potter property on Market street, between Second and Third streets, and the old Journal building, on Princess, between Front and Second streets. One of the cases was heard at a recent term of court before Judge Justice and in the communication filed with the Mayor and Council the statement is made that Judge Justice held that the city was not indictable per se, but the Councilmen themselves could be held liable for failure to have the obstructions removed. Notice is given that the city will be expected to take immediate steps toward having the streets cleared of these obstructions.

Expressions of Gratitude.

Mr. George Raudican, the life saver at the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, who went to the rescue of Dr. Ralph E. Knouse, of the Marine Hospital Service, and brought him ashore after the late Mr. John D. Artley, who lost his life in the attempt, had become exhausted, has received letters from Dr. and Mrs. Knouse expressing their deep gratitude to the life guard for his bravery. Notwithstanding the splendid service rendered by Mr. Artley Dr. Knouse would very probably have lost his life had it not been for the timely arrival of the life guard, as the public is aware from the accounts in the newspapers at the time. Although the sad affair occurred about two weeks ago, Dr. Knouse did not recover sufficiently to even write a letter until last Sunday and the first one he wrote was to Mr. Raudican. It is not improbable that an effort will be made to secure a Carnegie medal for the brave life saver.

COTTLE FINED BY RECORDER

Appeals to Superior Court—Evidence in Neely Case Heard Yesterday—Arguments of Counsel This Morning.

Yesterday was the day set in the Recorder's Court for the trial of the cases recently worked up by the police charging violation of the prohibition law, and practically the entire day was consumed with these matters. The cases against Ben Cottle, a druggist, and Dolf Bolton, his clerk, were tried in the morning, and the case against J. B. Neely was taken up in the afternoon, but for the lack of time, was not finished, being continued until this morning, when the arguments of counsel will be heard.

Cottle was found guilty and fined $100 and costs. Dolf Bolton was also found guilty, but judgment of the court was that he be let off upon payment of the costs. Both appealed to Superior Court, and Cottle's bond was fixed at $200, and Bolton's bond at $50, which they gave.

All the cases were prosecuted for the State by County Solicitor Peschau, and the first cases tried were those against Cottle and Bolton who were represented by William J. Bellamy, Esq.

The chief witness for the State in these cases was L. A. Justice, who testified that he had purchased a bottle of Coca-Cola from Cottle's drug store, at Eighth and Castle streets, which he had given to Chief of Police Williams, to be given the city chemist for analysis. Mr. George Catlett, the city chemist, testified that the bottle which he analyzed contained 8.45 per cent. alcohol, and that it was constituted of Jamaica ginger, coloring matter and flavoring extracts.

Mr. Cottle, in his own behalf, denied ever having sold anything except Coca Cola, though he stated that he had at times, when customers requested it, put a teaspoonful of Jamaica ginger in the Coca Cola.

Other witnesses were introduced to corroborate Cottle's statements. Cottle was emphatic in his denial that he had ever sold intoxicants of any kind.

The defense attempted to impeach the testimony of Justice, who, it was contended, had been tried in court several times.

Dolf Bolton clerks in Cottle's store, and his connection with the matter lay in the fact that he acted as agent in the sale of the alleged intoxicants.

After taking a recess for dinner court convened again at 3 o'clock, when the case against J. B. Neely, charged with selling intoxicating liquors, was called. Neely was represented by A. G. Ricaud and Woodus Kellum, Esqs.

The first witness introduced by the State was Deputy Sheriff Reynolds, who testified that on the fifth day of June he purchased six bottles of "No Tax" from J. B. Neely, which he delivered to H. Mack Godwin in Justice Harriss' office. Godwin testified that he received the bottles which he took to Mayor Moore at his office in the City Hall, and that on June 9th two of these bottles were delivered to Mr. A. N. DuBois a chemist, for analysis. S. D. Bryant testified that on two separate occasions he had purchased from the defendant five and three barrels, respectively, of the "No Tax."

Former Chief of Police Fowler testified that he had made investigations during the latter part of May, and had found that the sale of "No Tax" was illegal, and that he had so notified the man in charge of Neely's business.

Chemists George Catlett and A. N. DuBois were also placed on the stand and each testified that they had analyzed samples of "No Tax." They identified various bottles which were on exhibition in the court room. Much expert testimony was given by these witnesses which proved more or less interesting to the spectators, according to their knowledge of chemical matters. Mr. Catlett testified that he had analyzed several samples of "No Tax," and many of them were found to contain alcohol.

Mayor Moore testified to having received the six bottles from Godwin, which he had placed in his desk at the City Hall. He stated that he had sent two of the bottles to Mr. DuBois for analysis. He also said on cross-examination that he had sampled the contents of two of the bottles, and that it tasted like, smelt like and looked like beer. He was very positive that the contents of the bottles had not been tampered with while in his office.

The only witness whom the defense introduced at yesterday's hearing was Neely, who stated that he had been assured by the manufacturers of the "No Tax" that its sale was not illegal. He stated that he had received two barrels which Mr. Green, their agent, told him had been manufactured for Virginia consumption, and whose sale in this State was illegal, and that he had not sold any of this. He stated that he had been assured that no other "No Tax" shipped to him would contain alcohol in excess of the amount allowed by the State law, but that to be doubly sure he had had samples analyzed, and that the analysis showed that it contained about one-tenth of one per cent.

He emphasized his desire to abide by the law, and stated that he has had no intention of violating it at any time. He stated that he had never been indicted before this month, and gave a clear, succinct history of his life.

At the completion of Neely's testimony the defense asked for a recess until this morning, which was granted. The case will be continued today.

Justice Fowler's First Case.

Former Chief of Police John J. Probable cause was not found and the case dismissed. The warrant was sworn out several weeks ago, but the trial has been delayed on account of Justice Fowler being out of the city.

Occurred Last Night at Harper's Sanitarium—Funeral Tomorrow.

It will be learned with deepest regret by very many friends that Mrs. J. M. Rogers, who had been at Harper's Sanitarium for a week for treatment, passed away last night shortly before 12 o'clock. Owing to her advanced age, she being in her 71st year, little hope had been entertained for her recovery. Nevertheless the shock of her death was none the less severe to her devoted family. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. E. L. Mathews, Carolina Place. Dr. J. H. Foster, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which Mrs. Rogers was a loyal member for many years, will conduct the services. Interment will be in Oakdale. Mrs. Rogers is survived by her husband, Mr. J. M. Rogers, No. 307 North Fifth street; two daughters, Mrs. E. L. Mathews and Mrs. J. W. Robinson, of the city, and one son, Mr. Henry L. Rogers. One other relative outside of the immediate family survives, being a brother, Mr. J. K. Smith, of Cordele, Ga.

"MANGER TO THE CROSS"

The Life of Christ at the Academy of Music This Week

At the Academy of Music is now being shown a picture that has attracted the attention of thousands of people in many towns and cities of the South during the past few months. It is entitled, "From the Manger to the Cross." It was shown in Atlanta three months ago and ran there at one of the leading theatres for two weeks, being witnessed by a packed house at each performance. In every respect this production is the finest effort of the motion picture makers to depict the life of the Saviour that has ever been seen in Wilmington. It lasts longer, seems more natural, and is by far the most impressive of them all. There is nothing objectionable about the picture. The foremost preachers of the country have recommended it unhesitatingly, and anyone who sees it will at once appreciate its value.

A large number saw the picture yesterday, but the attendance today will be much greater. There will be two performances again today. The afternoon performance begins at 3:30 and the night performance at 8 o'clock.

Wrightsville Beach

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Carlyle, of Lumberton, who were married Wednesday evening, are spending their honeymoon at the Seashore Hotel.

Among the guests at the Hanover Inn this week are Mrs. J. D. Heilig and three children, of Salisbury, and Mrs. W. H. Mendenhall, of Lexington.

Mrs. W. E. Holt, Jr., of Lexington, Misses Lida Caldwell and Mary Durham, of Charlotte, are expected tomorrow to spend several weeks at the Seashore Hotel.

Raleigh News and Observer: "Miss Gertie McCumbee, of Nazareth, who was here visiting friends has gone to Wrightsville Beach, where she will spend three weeks."

Prof. J. Allen Holt, principal of Oak Ridge Institute, is spending a few days at the Oceanic Hotel. Prof. Holt is recuperating from a recent severe illness. He is one of the State's most prominent educators and has many friends in Wilmington.

Many of the visitors to the beach are availing themselves of the opportunity to learn to swim under the capable direction of Mr. G. T. Clarke, of the Hanover Inn, and Mr. Robert Strange, of the Oceanic Hotel, who are giving lessons in Mott's Channel each afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Among those registered at the Oceanic Hotel yesterday were J. S. MacRae, Maxton; M. P. Greene and P. V. D. Westelaker, Alexandria, Va.; F. R. Yarborough, Montgomery, Ala.; Miss Alma White, Charlotte; James A. Wellons, Smithfield; C. G. Tyndall, Kinston; Miss V. E. Williams, Norfolk; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Weeks, Wilson.

Among those registered at the Seashore Hotel yesterday were Dr. Edward Coleman, Athens, Ga.; E. R. Preston, Charlotte; Mrs. George L. Pratt, Miss A. D. Logan and Misses Margaret and Telside Pratt, Atlanta; W. G. Hunter, Charlotte; M. W. Poper, Florence; Miss Dorothy Bert, Richmond, Va.; Fred Flowers, Durham; O. C. Bruton, Mt. Gilead.

The first tier of seats on the upper pavilion at Lumina has been completed, being used for the first time Wednesday evening when several hundred people were at the pleasure palace for the souvenir dance given complimentary to the merchants of the State. These elevated seats afford a splendid view of the dancers on the floor and will doubtless become very popular.

Wilmingtonians as well as beach visitors from a distance will be glad to learn that Mrs. Frank Pearson, the well known soloist of Atlanta, Ga., has been engaged by the Tidewater Power Company to sing at Lumina two Sundays this Summer. She will probably be heard on July 19 and 26. Mrs. Pearson has filled engagements at Lumina for the past two seasons and hundreds visit the pavilion especially to hear her sing.

The souvenir dance given at Lumina Wednesday evening by the Tidewater Power Company in compliment to the visitors here for the meeting of the State Merchants' Association, was the largest attended dance of the season and was one of the most enjoyable. There are a large number of people on the beach now and most of these visited Lumina during the evening, besides a large crowd went down from the city.

Preparations are being made for the rejuvenation by the Sons of Jove to be held at the beach July 4th and 5th. A feature will be a big banquet. This is the well known organization of electricians for this State and South Carolina. The following chairmen of special committees are just announced in preparation for the rejuvenation: General committee, N. L. Walker, Raleigh; Finance, Leander Parish, Durham; Entertainment, J. S. Hamrick, Raleigh; Membership, W. H. Green, Charlotte; Secretary, J. C. Dibrill, Richmond; Degrees, J. O. Brock, Wilmington.

WORK MOVING ALONG.

Progress Being Made in Removal of Buildings on Market Street.

Workmen are making fine progress in the removal of the old Bonitz Hotel building, on Market street, and the McIlhenny building, next east on corner of Second and Market, and the way they are getting along now the job should be completed within a few days. On the site of the old Bonitz Hotel will be erected a handsome theatre building by Mr. J. M. Solky. Just what will be done with the corner property, which belongs to the McIlhenny estate, is yet to be determined. The building began cracking soon after the work of removing the Bonitz Hotel building was begun. Members of Council deemed the building unsafe, really dangerous, and condemned it. Those in control of the estate started to fight the matter out in the courts, but afterward decided to remove the building down to the first story, which, it is said, they hope will be allowed to remain. The Council ordered the entire building torn down, so a representative of the owners of the property will likely appear before the Council at the next meeting and ask permission to leave the first story intact. They will claim, it is understood, that the building is substantial to the top of the first floor, the weak places in the building having all appeared above this point.

Council for Asheville.

Members of the organization in this city will be interested in the announcement that on Sunday, July 6th, an Asheville Council of the Catholic order of the Knights of Columbus will be formed. For several weeks past the male members of St. Lawrence's church, Asheville, have considered the organization of a local council, and plans were matured several weeks ago, when a list of 75 members was secured.

DISASTROUS FIRE

Does Much Damage to Arsenal at Naples

Naples, June 19.—Fire which broke out in the arsenal early today did damage estimated at $100,000.

Troops from the garrison and sailors from warships assisted the firemen in quenching the flames, which threatened at one time to sweep the Royal Palace. The origin of the fire is unknown.

There were ten catastrophes among the rescuing forces.

The Duke of Aosta, cousin of King Victor Emmanuel, commanded the firemen, sailors and soldiers who fought the flames.

COTTON IS STILL UNSETTLED

Weather Conditions Considered Satisfactory—Opening Steady at a Decline—Closing Prices Several Points Off.

New York, June 19.—The cotton market was somewhat unsettled again today, with prices showing a tendency to ease off, owing to a favorable view of new crop conditions, but with sufficient support around the ring to cause frequent rallies. The close was steady, at a net decline of 1 to 5 points.

The opening was steady, at a decline of 3 to 8 points on the response to lower cables, overnight selling orders and renewed realizing by houses with European connections who were supposed to be undoing straddles. Weather conditions were considered generally satisfactory, and there was some Southern selling here under which prices eased off to a net loss of about 8 to 10 points during the morning. This carried October contracts off to 1149, and at this price there were indications that some of the people with European connections who had been sellers for profits here previously, were beginning to relbuy.

The support from this source, combined with an increased demand from local bulls, and covering by early sellers, rallied the market during the middle of the day, with the active months recovering to about the closing figures of last night. Reports that boll weevil were appearing numerously in Arkansas and some scattering complaints of excessive temperatures in the Eastern belt helped the rally, but offerings later showed a continued tendency to take profits on long cotton, and closing prices were a point or two off from the best.

Cotton futures closed steady.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON MARKET.

New Orleans, June 19.—The volume of trade in cotton today was light. Neither side was aggressive and after a small decline prices went to a small advance. News from the belt was bearish, on the whole, but it led to little selling. Leading bull interests, which have been furnishing the ring with many buying orders of late, appeared to be taking their profits at every opportunity.

THE DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, June 19.—Cotton goods markets today were steady, but quiet. Coarse numbers of cotton yarns were ⅛c. a pound higher. Clothing manufacturers are looking about for prices on serges for Spring, 1914, and are hearing suggestions of revisions downward from 8 to 10 per cent. Japan raw silks were higher with the demand better.

FINAL STRUGGLE APPROACHING.

Large Detachments of Insurgents and Federals on Verge of Battle.

Douglas, Ariz., June 19.—Five thousand insurgents and 3,000 Federals this afternoon began a general engagement at Ortiz, Sonora. It is believed to be the final struggle between Gen. Ojeda's Federal column advancing north of the port of Guaymas, and the constitutionalists defending Hermosillo, the State capital. The constitutionalist committee was notified of the battle's beginning by Governor Pesquiera.

BUMPER CROP DOWNS MARKET

Bountiful Yields From Kansas Wheat Fields Cause Drop in Grain Prices—The Close Was Weak at a Loss.

Chicago, June 19.—Bountiful returns from harvest fields in Kansas, where farmers thought the wheat crop almost ruined, a fortnight ago, sent the market today decidedly down grade. The close was weak, at a loss of 1⅞ to 1¾c. net.

Corn finished ⅝ to ⅝@⅝c. off, and oats at a decline of a shade to ⅛@⅜c. In provisions the outcome varied from last night's level to an upturn of 15c.

STOCK ADVANCE IS HALTED

Market Develops Sagging Tendency. The Pressure Not Severe—Recessions in Most Cases Slight—Sales.

New York, June 19.—The advance in stocks of the last week was halted today, and the market developed a sagging tendency. Pressure was not severe, and recessions in most cases were slight. In spite of the heavy undertone, stocks showed no evidence of weakness, except in a few isolated instances, and the downward movement was symptomatic of no change in sentiment.

The extent of the recent rise prompted realizing sales, to which the market responded the more readily because contraction of the short interest had weakened the technical position. Although there was no vigorous demand for the standard stocks, such as had marked trading on the upturn, offerings were promptly absorbed, whenever the list sold off. The day's business was the smallest of the month.

Union Pacific was heavy, selling of this stock being influenced by gossip of the Street, regarding the forthcoming decree in the dissolution proceedings. The copper shares were also heavy, reflecting unfavorable reports of conditions in the trade. Ontario and Western, which has been strong recently on the anticipation of resumption of dividends, rose an additional pont following announcement that 2 per cent. would be paid on the stock. Foreign selling here was a factor in the early heaviness of the market. London disposed of a few thousand shares on balance. German bankers were again in this market for money to carry over the mid-year settlements, raising their bids to 5% per cent. for sixty-day funds. No loans were made at this figure.

The bond market showed a sagging tendency. Total sales, par value, $1,118,000.

U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

Total sales were 173,500 shares, including: American Tobacco, 200; C. and O., 2,300; Lehigh Valley, 2,000; L. and N., 200; N. and W., 100; S. A. L., pfd., 400; Southern Railway, 300; do., pfd., 300; Tennessee Copper, 100; Union Pacific, 18,800; do. pfd., 200; V.-C. C., 300.

PHAGAN CASE AGAIN.

Interest Renewed in Atlanta's Murder Mystery.

Atlanta, Ga., June 19.—Renewed interest in the Mary Phagan murder mystery was aroused today by the announcement that Mrs. Mima Formby, the rooming housekeeper who is said to have furnished the local police with an affidavit bearing on the case and who disappeared some time ago, had returned to Atlanta.

It is claimed by the police that Mrs. Formby's affidavit stated that on the night the Phagan girl was murdered, Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the factory, where the girl worked, attempted to secure a room at Mrs. Formby's house for himself and a girl.

Mrs. Formby disappeared immediately after the publication of an article purporting to give the gist of her affidavit. Efforts to locate her proved futile. She is said to have returned of her own accord. It is understood that the police except to use her evidence in the trial of Frank, under indictment for the murder.

OPPOSING DIVORCE

Convict Real Estate Man Objects to Wife's Suit

Chicago, June 19.—Counsel for Peter Van Vlissengen, the convict real estate man, who is contesting the suit of his wife, Mrs. Jessie R. Van Vlissengen, for divorce, today attempted to elicit from the latter that she had married Van Vlissengen, whose stenographer she had been, so that she would not have to testify against him, should his forgeries be discovered. The wife insisted that she was ignorant that her employer was guilty of wrongdoing.

Van Vlissengen's forgeries aggregated several hundred thousand dollars. He had an ingenious secret contrivance by means of which he duplicated mortgages, and in one instance sold five mortgages, four of which were forgeries, on one piece of property.

Mrs. Van Vlissengen is asking divorce on the grounds that her husband is a felon. He is contesting, he says, because he believes divorce to be wrong, and sets up the defense that his wife knew of his misdeeds.

STOMACH CANCER CURABLE.

Declaration of the Celebrated Surgeon William B. Mayo.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 19.—That cancer of the stomach is a curable disease was the declaration of Dr. William B. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., at the 64th annual convention of the American Medical Association, which opened yesterday:

"A favorable diagnosis can be established by simple methods," he asserted. "A history of gastric disturbance precedes cancer in a large number if not the majority of cases. Operations for cancer of the stomach should begin as an exploration. Moderate involvement of the pancras does not necessarily preclude operation. Palliative operations have a field of usefulness."

Dr. Mayo gave a review of statistics of signs and symptoms observed in one thousand patients operated on for cancer of the stomach.

LEPROSY INCREASING.

According to Surgeon General of Public Health.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 19.—The third day of the American Medical Association's annual convention opened in 15 sections today.

Leprosy is steadily increasing in the United States, according to Dr. Rupert Blue, surgeon general of the United States Public Health Service. Dr. Blue's address told of the continued propagation and spread of the disease. Government supervision was urged.

At an afternoon session Dr. Vistor C. Vaughn, Ann Arbor, Mich., dean of the Medical School of the University of Michigan, was elected president.

EIGHTY GIRLS BURNED.

Villagers Objecting to Cheap Labor Commit Outrageous Crime.

St. Petersburg, June 19.—Eighty women were burned to death today by villagers enraged at the importation of cheap girl labor to work on a sugar estate in the district of Piriatin, Russia, according to the newspaper Liamin.

The excited villagers first securely fastened all the means of exit from a wooden barn in which the girls were housed. Then they set fire to the building, while the inmates were asleep and all were burned to death without a chance to escape.

TENNESSEE LEGISLATURE

Arranging to Get Cash to Meet Bond Maturity

Nashville, Tenn., June 19.—The Tennessee Legislature with a quorum present in both houses, assembled at 8:30 tonight. The funding board sought to have rushed through immediately the resolution authorizing the board to borrow money on short-term notes to meet the bond maturity July 1. The regular Democrats, constituting the majority in both houses, refused to allow this resolution to pass, preferring to introduce it in the form of a bill. Such a bill was introduced tonight.

NEW ONE ON HIM

Preacher Had Never Seen Such a Scriptural Passage

Fayetteville Observer: "At the protracted meeting at First Baptist church Wednesday night, the preacher asked those in the congregation who would do so, to quote their favorite verse of Scripture. A number did so, and then a gentleman arose and requested prayer for the Mayor, chief of police, the police force and the Recorder's court. The preacher said he had never seen such a passage in the Bible."

KINSTON NEWS NOTES

Work on the School for Feeble-minded Being Finished

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., June 19.—W. D. Jarman, a picture-frame salesman, who was arrested in Greensboro last week upon request of the Kinston authorities, was given a hearing before a magistrate here on the charge of abandonment, preferred by his wife.

Justice Oettinger ruled that the man should pay his family $4 a week until further adjustment, and required a bond of $100 to secure the payment. Another bond of $100 was required of Jarman for his appearance before a magistrate here on July 16 to show that he had complied with the court's order. With his compliance with the decision it is probable that further procedure in the case will be stopped. Jarman is alleged to have left his wife and children here several months ago, and not to have contributed to their support.

The water tank at the State School for the Feebl-minded has been completed, and plumbers and steamfitters are today putting the finishing touches on the inside work of the buildings at the school. The tank, 100 feet high, has a capacity of 50,000 gallons. The only thing remaining to be done at the institution now is the laying of sewer mains to the river. This work had to be postponed until funds are allowed by the State.

REPLIES TO PROTEST.

Chancellor Kirkland's Statement Concerning the Carnegie Offer.

Nashville, Tenn., June 19—In a statement published today Chancellor J. H. Kirkland replies to the protest of the four members of the Vanderbilt University board of trust over the Carnegie gift to the medical department. He says all the objections offered turn on the assumption that the board of trust is to turn over the medical department to an independent board," a sufficient answer to which is the regulations for the medical department adopted by the board of trust; the election of members of the governing board, and their removal for cause by the board of trust's records of the medical department to be accessible to the board of trust; the actions of the governing board to be subject to ratification by the board of trust.

"Even from the point of view of the Methodist church," says Dr. Kirkland "there can be no ground for the rejection of the money or the plan. Vanderbilt University has everything to gain by it and nothing to lose. If the University is to be controlled by the Church, it will be much better off with a first-class medical school than with the old. Certainly, Nashville, and the South generally, can hardly be expected to relish the refusal of a great donation on grounds so puerile."

RAILROAD RECEIVERS CONFER.

Decline to Discuss Outcome of Visit to New York.

New York, June 19.—B. L. Winchell and Thomas H. West, receivers of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad, returned to St. Louis today after a stay of two days here, during which they conferred with representatives of Speyer & Co., Prince Poniatowski, of Paris, and B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the road.

The receivers declined to discuss the outcome of their visit, but it was understood that the question of a third receiver to represent the interests of the foreign bondholders, is still in abeyance. Concerning the reported retirement of Mr. Yoakum, it was explained that his duties as chairman of the 'Frisco system practically ceased automatically with the appointment of the receivers. It is expected further economies in the management of the road would be announced by the receivers upon their return to St. Louis.

WILSON CROP PROSPECTS.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wilson, N. C., June 18.—Crop reports are interesting to every class of citizens these Summer days. Here in Wilson county the prospect is fairly good. In some sections the tobacco plants are having a struggle to get over the dry weather which preceded the rainy season, but in other sections the plant looks exceedingly well. Cotton is growing off in good shape and with continued open weather the farmers will be enabled to get the plant out of the grass. Corn is in fine condition and going ahead of the grass. The wheat harvest is in progress, and the yield is fair, better than last year, but not quite so good as in 1911. Farmers are hard at it, and if good, honest work counts, the result will be a marked improvement in all crops, by the end of the week.

PERSONAL MATTER ADJUSTED

Encounter Between Fayetteville Citizens—Marriage Solemnized

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, N. C., June 19.—An affair which attracted some little attention at the time of its inception was amicably settled at the recent term of Superior Court. This was the case growing out of the encounter between Messrs. A. E. Martin and C. C. Bullard, which was adjusted to the satisfaction of all concerned when it was announced to the court that an agreement had been reached by the parties, and that Mr. Martin was willing to pay all the costs of the case. On this basis the incident was brought to a close.

After the close of the services in the First Baptist church Tuesday night, Miss Lillian Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Johnson, and Mr. English D. Raffield, assistant ticket agent at the Atlantic Coast Line passenger station, were married at the residence of Rev. Joel S. Snyder, on Rowan street, Mr. Snyder officiating. The bride, who is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, is an attractive young woman. Mr. Raffield is from Sumter, S. C., and has made a number of friends since coming here. They will continue to live in Fayetteville.
